CHURCH OF CHRIST

GROWING, WORKING, SHARING...TOGETHER

ARE YOU READY

Considering the above as a thought starter, let's consider some of the possible ramifications. Would we be considered as "raw recruits" needing a full course of training before we could possibly be ready to be of service or could we be considered as Cadets (young people who have volunteered and received rudimentary training preparatory actually going for full training)? Perhaps we are people who have partially prepared and not completed our training; maybe we have tried to be trained but just did not put it into practice and though wanting to be of service and are unsure of how to proceed. If any of the forgoing should happen to be your case, you have only to decide you need to be active in service. You can start self-training or work with others whose level of training is more advanced to better prepare you to be used.

If you have served and are just not serving now you can step up and beginning serving once more.

For those who are and have been serving, you are needed for your current service and to help with preparing others to serve more efficiently.

We have been studying the church as a unified body where each of us works together to make an efficient and cooperative body functioning with Jesus the Christ as our head.

ANSWER THE CALL

—Carl

"It's from the church...we've been called up for active duty."

SCRIPTURE READING: 1 Corinthians 13:4-7

4 Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. 5 It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. 6 Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. 7 It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.

Silver Anniversary

On May 24, 1991, I walked across a stage, received a piece of paper and became a high school graduate. Just the other day, I realized that happened 25 years ago this coming Tuesday. At the time, I had a five year plan that involved medical school and a ten year plan that included living in the northeast. As a minister in the northwest, I understand that life does not always go as planned. I also believe that sometimes the detours from our plan can bring some of the greatest blessings God has in store for us. What about you? Have things in your life gone exactly according to plan?

Last week's sermon began in one of my favorite passages, Romans 8. We are reminded there in verse 28 that God works “in all things.” However close to or far from our original plans we might be, we understand that God can still use us in the present. We also know that the future He is guiding us toward can be better than anything we had planned. But even if that future is filled with challenges or struggles, we know that God can work there too. Let's all be more aware of how God is working in our lives this week.
