Jim Stutz

My family was not very religious on a daily basis. We said grace at holiday family dinners and celebrated Easter along with Christmas. We were aware of the true meaning of each. The family Bible was on a bookshelf and we were told it was a good book full of good ideas. My siblings and I were told the stories of Jesus and that He was a good person who spoke of living a life of good deeds. But it was left up to us to pursue more involved religious instruction. As a young boy I attended a few Sunday school lessons at the River Road Baptist Church with other neighborhood children, but nothing long term. I've always tried to live my life in a good manner following what I felt was a good manner following what I felt was a Christian lifestyle. After knowing Carl and Lois for more than 10+ years, they invited me to church. So I started attending on a somewhat regular basis until I moved to Veneta. I attended sporadically for awhile until moving to Springfield. After about 2 years I surprised Carl one Sunday by asking him if it was a good Sunday to get baptized? He said any day is a good day, and that day after services he performed the deed here at the church.

I always felt I was living a good and righteous life prior to being baptized, but I felt I should make the final commitment to the Lord. Since then I have strived to learn more of the scriptures and tried to live as a good Christian. I pray that I will be worthy of the struggle.

Children's Prayer Warriors:

this month please pray specifically for the friendships of each child, that they would be healthy and godly.
